Grocer Shot to Death at Camden

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)— Camden police were searching today for clues to the robbery and brutal murder of Chipman L. Chun, 64, who was shot and beaten to death Saturday night at the grocery store he owned here.

Police Chief G. B. Cole said his men had picked up no leads, but that there was a possibility the slaying was connected with a similar case in North Little Rock.

Cole called Chun's slaying "as brutal a murder as I've ever witnessed." He said the elderly Chinaman's skull had been crushed by blows from soft drink bottles, and that he had been shot in the left arm, just below the left shoulder blade and just below the neck.

The three shots apparently were fired from a .38-caliber pistol, he said, which is the same caliber weapon believed to have been used early Saturday morning in the slaying of Bryan William Hewitt, 58, of North Little Rock, who was killed during a $31.73 robbery at the service station where he was a night attendant.

No weapon was found in either case.

Cole said it was impossible to determine how much money was taken from Chun. He said the man's pockets had been emptied, and that the coffee can in which he kept his change was found lying on the ground outside the grocery.

Chun's body was discovered in the bedroom of his living quarters by Lt. Jack Dews of the Camden police, who entered the unlocked store after spotting smoke inside the building.

The smoke came from Chun's bed, which apparently had been set afire by his assailant. The body was on the floor at the foot of the bed.

Cole said the murder apparently took place between 11 p.m. when Chun normally closed the store on Saturdays, and 12:50 a.m., when Dews found him.

Pieces of glass were found imbedded in Chun's scalp, and Dews picked up the necks of nine broken soft drink bottles.

Chun lived alone.

west later in the day and hampered search operations.

The spokesman added that the airline "never had experience of an aircraft spinning before, nor do I know of any other case."

He said the plane had been in service for about 12 years.

St. George's Channel, a part of the Irish Sea where the search is centered, is about 600 feet deep. A Royal Navy spokesman said deep-sea sounding equipment would probably be used if no debris is found in the next day or two.

Donations Keep School From Closing

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)— Patrons of the Wabbaseka School District have kept their three schools from closing by contributing $2,189 to pay back salaries of teachers.

The district discovered Feb. 15 that it had underpaid teachers by $4,030 for the 1966-67 school year. It wiped out part of its debt by applying a $1,841 surplus carried over from the previous school year, but was still in the red.

According to state law, the state Education Department must withhold all state aid from school districts that go into the red until local funds are raised to cover the deficit.

Sheep Deaths Are Under Investigation

By JO ANN HACKER
Associated Press Writer
SKULL VALLEY, Utah (AP)

An investigation to determine what killed some 6,400 sheep in this desolate, semiarid western Utah valley continued today as ranchers moved into the pastures to shoot other suffering sheep.

In the past 10 days sheep began dying by the thousands and several qualified veterinarians have linked their deaths to nerve gas testing at the Army's Dugway Proving Ground adjacent to the rangeland.

Dr. Mar Fawcett, one of two veterinarians called to the Hatch Ranch—which has sustained more than 90 per cent of the loss—said, "I have no doubts at all that organic phosphate poisoning from nerve gas testing killed the sheep."

He said he based this on lab tests at Utah State University and on private study.

It was several days after the sheep began dying that Army officials withdrew their original denial and said "routine nerve gas" spray had been tested at Dugway March 13.

Fawcett said, "I'm sure if we had known about the testing and had an antidote, many of the sheep could have been saved."

Had the Army reported the tests on March 17 when they were informed of the deaths, Fawcett said many of the sheep could have been given the Army nerve gas antidote atropine.

Army investigators contend "all results so far are inconclusive," and that it cannot be proven the sheep died because of nerve gas testing done at Dugway.

Loss has been estimated at $300,000. In addition, the wool crop is lost and about 80 per cent of the dead sheep would have lambed in a month.

Just Appeared to Be Dead

POWELLVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Tavern owner James Madison Keemer, 50, shot Saturday night during an argument with a customer, appeared to be dead and an undertaker was called.

But signs of life were detected and Keemer was taken to a hospital, where a doctor discovered the bullet had passed through his body without apparent damage to any internal organs. The doctor applied two small bandages and Keemer was released.

Cardinal Wants to Go to Rome

VIENNA (AP) — An authoritative source said today that Hungary's Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty has changed his mind about maintaining his self-imposed exile in the U.S. Embassy in Budapest and now wants to go to Rome.

But the informant said Hungarian authorities, who earlier displayed "great interest" in having the Roman Catholic prelate leave, have cooled toward that idea, making an early solution of the cardinal's case unlikely.

The informant said, "The cardinal now holds the view it would be better if he left Hungary, because he could do a lot more abroad than he can do there."

Earlier, Cardinal Mindszenty repeatedly turned down invitations by the Pope to come to Rome, saying he preferred to remain in Hungary.

Cardinal Mindszenty will be 76 next Friday. It will be the 12th birthday he has celebrated in the U.S. Embassy, where he sought sanctuary when the Hungarian revolution was smashed Nov. 4, 1956.

Wants Story of Stalinism Purge Told

By HANNS NEUBOURG
Associated Press Writer
PRAGUE, (AP) — The British-born widow of one of Czechoslovakia's victims of Stalinism said today the truth about the bloody purges of the early 1950's should now be told.

"The whole case must be properly cleared up," Mr. Marian Sling said in an interview.

"I do not want any revenge, any political trial. But it is important for the youth, for the entire country, that the full truth is told."

Mrs. Sling, 55, is the widow of Otto Sling, hanged in 1952 together with former party Secretary General Rudolf Slansky and several other leading Communists.

They were partially cleared posthumously in a 1963 probe, but Mrs. Sling said it "did not go into the question who was behind all this...and left my husband with a political stigma."

The outspoken Oxford graduate also told of how she and her husband were arrested, how she spent a long solitary confinement and was exposed to brainwashing.

"I never despaired of socialism," she said, however.

"I think all of us who went through such experiences have always continued to believe in socialism as the only possible solution for the future of society. We knew this was not the fault of socialism but the fault of the way it was carried out."

Under the new anti-Stalinist leadership, full rehabilitation of Sling and other victims of the purges is regarded as a formality.

A special party commission has been established and is expected to announce soon the official posthumous restoration of party membership. An investigation into the background of the purges is also under way.

Flee to Beat British Tax

LONDON (AP) — Alan Clore, the 23-year-old son of British millionaire builder Charles Clore, said today Britain's new budget will tax him so much that he has to move to "tax exile" in Switzerland.

Clore receives $822,400 a year in dividends from a trust fund set up by his father.

He said in today's Daily Express: "This could be a wonderful country. But my tax position now would mean that I would have to pay taxes of nearly 50 per cent more than my total income if I stay."

Clore explained that new up-riper-income bracket dividend taxes, on top of a surtax, would come to $3.27 for every $2.40 he earns in dividends.

Escapees Are Apprehended, 6 Still Free

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP)— Illinois authorities have apprehended two of the eight inmates who escaped here March 15, Prison Supt. Victor Urban said Saturday night.

He said Henry Suggitt, 24, and Erskin Russell, 25, were being held "somewhere" in Illinois after being picked up in a car believed to have been stolen Friday in Little Rock.

All other escapees were captured previously.

Suggitt was serving a five-year term for burglary and grand larceny from Woodruff County. Russell was serving 19 years for burglary and grand larceny from St. Francis County.

JUNIOR SIREN THROWS WEIGHT AROUND - OBVIOUSLY
Dear Helen: My 17-year-old sister is a junior Sophia Loren. Liz Taylor, and she knows it. She came to live with my husband and me after she caused trouble between Mom and her new stepfather. She practices her sex appeal on older men, you see, AND how she throws that (top) weight around!

Now it's starting with my husband. He's a good man, Helen, but he isn't blind. If she isn't running around in a bikini, she wears a blouse with two buttons missing, or a see-through negligee. And she's the kind of person who talks "close," especially with men.

Last night, hating to look like a suspicious wife, I went to bed early and left them playing checkers. You know how loud silence can get. I strained to hear them at their game. Nothing. Then suddenly I heard my sister squeal and giggle, and running sounds as if my husband were chasing her around the room.

That's when I came downstairs for a "drink of water." They looked guilty as all get-out, but explained that she had "stolen his King," and he was going to spank her for it. The checkerboard had both king's rows filled with "single" men. Is it time to ship sister off to a maiden aunt? — SHE'S STACKED AGAINST ME

Dear SSAM: It's past time! Check her in a safe place, before she steals YOUR king. — H

Dear Helen: Make way for another "Mrs. Inadequate." Those glowing Christmas letters from successful friends chill me.

Here's the holiday letter I wrote, but never had the nerve to send. Surely it would make all my friends feel better by comparison.

"Dear Everybody: Water pipe in our garage froze and burst. Our cat died. We had our carpet stair runner cleaned. Estimated cost: $38. Final bill: $60, and they did a lousy job.

"Moths got into my fur coat. Pain doubled when we received a $2,000 dental bill. Our 13-year-old broke her arm. Our five-year-old was stung by a swarm of bees. Another cat died. Had to get a new hot water heater and washing machine. We spent our vacation painting the house. Kids were a great help, what with spilled paint and upset ladders. They cooked beans and franks every night for dinner.

"TV blew up before Christmas. Was still in the shop during the New Year's games. As usual, we bought high and sold

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Television, young as it is, already has built some traditions. One of them is the "highlights" program.

Sunday night TV presented the annual highlights of an ice show that plays around the country. Next Friday there will be highlights of a circus making its tour.

If you've seen one ice show or one circus, you have pretty well seen them all, yet there is a fascination to both that time cannot dim—which comes through on the tube.

NBC's hour-long ice special had nothing unusual to present Sunday but was graceful, tuneful and colorful, with here and there the required touch of broad comedy.

As the seasons roll by, the only thing that seems to change in ice shows is the music, the costumes and the hosts. The music is more likely to be from the latest Broadway hits than "The Skater's Waltz."

Over the seasons and on all three networks, the ice shows have all taken much the same form, and even the hosts act the same—they arrive gingerly on skates and make jokes about how badly they skate.

NBC's "Highlights from the Ice Capades of '68" was really not much different from "Highlights from the Ice Capades of '67," except that the comedy team of Rowan and Martin, wobbly in the feet, were around in place of past hosts. In an effort to add a little more spice to the proceedings, Joanie Sommers was on hand for a couple of songs.

The special was one of only two midweeking network programs that were not reruns. There was a repeat showing of ABC's movie, and on CBS The Smothers Brothers show and "Mission Impossible" were both around for a second time.

The other fresh show, NBC's "High Chaparral," was of interest primarily because of the appearance of Ramon Novarro, once an important silent movie star, playing a priest.

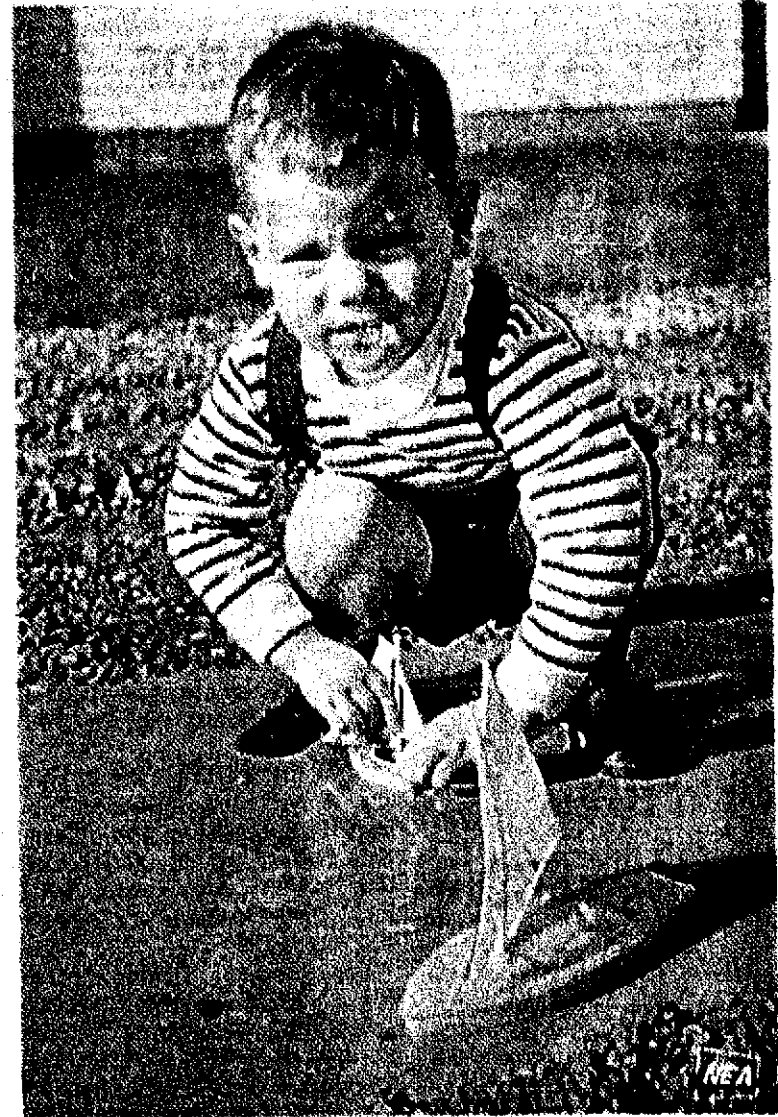

NBC has added two comedians as regulars to the summer series replacing the Dean Martin show. They are Paul Lynde and Sheeky Greene. Stars of the show will be Frank Sinatra Jr. and Joey Heatherton.

The next CBS National Geographic special, on April 16, will be a story of Portuguese cod fishermen whose work takes them onto the seas for six months at a time. The show is called "The Lonely Dorymen."

Recommended tonight: "Kiss Me Kate," ABC, 9:30-11 EST, Robert Goulet and Carol Lawrence in an adaptation of Cole Porter's 20-year-old musical comedy hit.

Cosmetic Cape

When a plastic raincoat becomes too shabby for wear, cut it to waist length, shorten the sleeves and use it as a cosmetic cape while you shampoo your hair, apply make-up or do any chore which requires a bit of protection. Then keep it clean by wiping it with a sudsy sponge.

MOM MAY BE A LITTLE SEASICK when she gets a look at these waterlogged shoes. Goodyear, which has been making shoe products since the beginning of the century, advises that all can be shipshape once more. Stuff the shoes with wadded newspaper and let them dry away from heat. These experts claim the shoes will hold their shape until junior ships out in them again.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—George Kennedy, who owns the fact that movie heroes love to hit, is finally getting up off the floor, thanks in large part to the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

There's nothing like an Oscar nomination to boost a career. Kennedy's nomination for his rough dim-witted convict in "Cool Hand Luke" is helping to elevate him from his position as punching bag for John Wayne, Kirk Douglas and other brave stars.

Right now he's playing the detective who tracks down the killer in "The Boston Strangler." Next he gets a lead in "Guns of the Magnificent Seven" with Henry Fonda and Tony Curtis.

The rough-hewn Kennedy can thank "Cool Hand Luke" for breaking him out of the type casting as the highly punchable heavy. He also thanks Robert Mitchum.

Warner Brothers wanted Mitchum to play the role of Paul Newman's Buddy," Kennedy reported. "Apparently he was interested, but they also asked me to test for it, and I jumped at the chance. I could see that it was a great part, and it would give me an opportunity to act decently on the screen for a change.

"Fortunately for me, Mitchum turned down the role because he didn't want to take second billing to Newman. So I lucked out."

George Kennedy has had a strange history—boy actor, rear soldier, movie villain. He was born into a theatrical family; his father was an orchestra leader, his mother a ballet dancer. Young George started acting at 2, touring with a road company of radio actors and disc jockies.

He enlisted in the Army at 17 and served in European battles. After the war he re-enlisted.

"I don't know why, exactly," he admits. "Mainly it was because I had no one to turn to for advice. My father had died, and I had no man I could discuss my future with—that's why I'm so active in the Big Brother organization now. The Army keeps pushing security at you, so I kept signing up again. This went on for 16 years." He served much of his time in armed forces radio, ending up as a captain.

Kennedy might still be in the Army except for a chance assignment as technical adviser on Phil Silvers' "Sgt. Bilko" television show. He succumbed to the urge to perform again, and after his discharge he went to work on "Bilko" as handyman and sometime actor, usually as an MP. After the show folded, Kennedy came west.

BEAUTIFUL IDEAS

YOUR FACE IS SHOWING
Let's face it, hiding facial blemishes and wrinkles behind a thick layer of pancake make-up is just not the "in" thing to do. Excepting eye makeup, the trend now is toward the natural, healthy, all-American look.

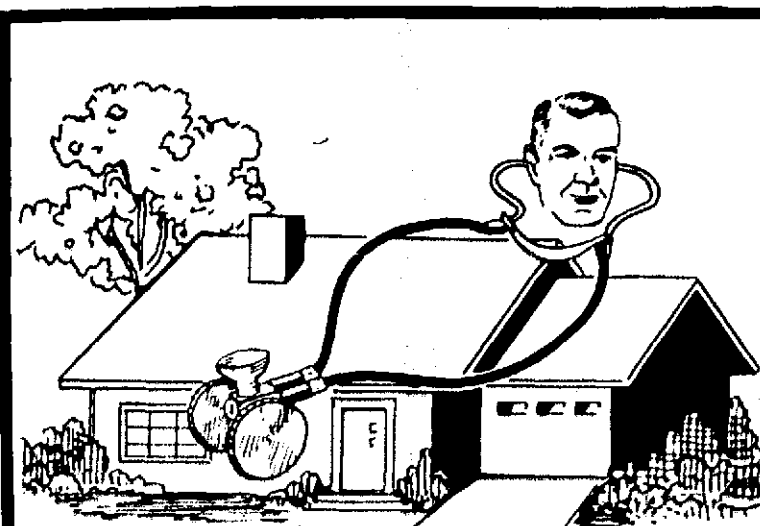

If you don't have that "girl next door" complexion, you're not alone. Millions of women have the same problem because of unnatural, unhealthy, all-American atmospheric dirt.

With the tremendous amount of dirt floating around in the air, it has become increasingly difficult for women to keep their faces clean. And beauty experts are unanimous in stating that strict skin cleanliness does more than anything to enhance complexion beauty.

To remove that ingrained, air-borne grime, the beauty experts recommend more than just surface cleansing—they say that deep-cleaning, such as provided by the Saunda Beauty Facial Machine, is the key to unlocking complexion beauty.

Celtics and Lakers Post Playoff Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bill Russell said he didn't have a good game, Jerry West said he hadn't realized he shot so well, Elgin Baylor didn't say a word.

Baylor didn't have to. His coach, Bill van Breda Kolff of the Los Angeles Lakers, said it all after the Lakers downed the Chicago Bulls 109-101 in the opening game of the best-of-7 Western Division playoff series.

"I played Baylor all the way because we needed his outside shooting. He was also playing so well, I hated to take him out," Van Breda Kolff said after the game in Los Angeles Sunday night.

All Elgin did was score 32 points, grab 23 rebounds and chip in with eight assists. West, returning after missing the final three regular season games with a groin injury, added a game-high 33 points.

In the opening game of the Eastern Division playoff in Boston, the Celtics topped Detroit Sunday 123-116 on the fine all-around play of Russell and the scoring of John Havlicek and Larry Siegfried.

In playoff action Saturday night, the New York Knicks and St. Louis Hawks each evened their series at 1-1. The Knicks beat the Eastern Division champs, Philadelphia, 128-117 in New York and at St. Louis, the Western Division champion Hawks topped San Francisco, 111-103.

In the American Basketball Association, Sunday, Anaheim tripped Oakland 147-135 to close the regular season. Both clubs failed to make the playoffs. In postseason play at Minnesota, the Muskies defeated Kentucky, 115-102 in the first game of a best-of-5 playoff in the Eastern Division.

West hit on 13 of 24 shots from the field and a perfect 7-7 at the charity line. "The groin injury I have is the most aggravating I've ever had. I got tired in the third period and started throwing some sloppy passes but I didn't realize I had shot so well," Jerry said.

Rival Coach, Johnny Kerr of the Bulls said: "We can beat the Lakers because they have gone back to a two-man offense."

Russell, critical of his performance said, "It wasn't actually that good a game for me. Normally, in a good game, I'd block more shots and wouldn't get in foul trouble."

It was when Russell got into foul trouble that the Celtics found themselves in hot water. Boston had surged to a 68-52 halftime edge with a second-period run of 14 straight points. But when Russell benched himself with four personal fouls for most of the third quarter the Pistons came alive.

Dave Bing, the league's top scorer, held to only seven points in the opening half, got hot and along with Terry Dischinger whittled away at Boston's lead and finally went ahead 93-91 at the end of three quarters.

But with Havlicek scoring 11 of his 25 points and Siegfried seven of his 21 and Celtics stormed back for the victory. Bing topped the Pistons with 30 points.

And Player-Coach Russell contributed his 'poor' game total of 15 points, nine assists and 34 rebounds.

The playoffs continue tonight with Boston in Detroit, St. Louis at San Francisco and Chicago at Los Angeles. The Hawks face the Warriors on the West Coast again Tuesday and the 76ers and Knicks play Wednesday in Philadelphia.

Alcindor Is Player of Tourney

By DAN BERGER
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Towering Lew Alcindor was named today as the outstanding player in the national collegiate basketball championships after leading UCLA to its fourth title in five years.

The Bruins crushed previously unbeaten Houston, 101-69, Friday night and then came back for a 78-55 triumph over North Carolina in the title game Saturday. The 7-foot-1½ Alcindor scored 53 points and hauled down 34 rebounds in the two games.

He is the fourth player in history to be voted the honor two years in succession. The others are Bob Kurland, Oklahoma State, 1945-46; Alex Groza, Kentucky, 1948-49; and Jerry Lucas, Ohio State, 1960-61.

Three other Bruins were named to the all-tournament team. With Alcindor on the select five were Mike Warren, Lucius Allen and Lynn Shackelford. The fifth man was North Carolina's Larry Miller, Player of the Year Elvin Hayes of Houston failed to make it.

Shackelford was accorded the honor on the basis of his 17 points and great defensive play in the victory over Houston.

Allen and Warren set the tempo of the game early in the finale. Allen wound up with 30 points for the two games and was all over the court against the Tar Heels, stealing passes on the Bruins' full court zone press.

Warren was the court general, guiding the offense and keeping North Carolina's fine sophomore Charlie Scott fairly well bottled up.

But Alcindor was the real story. He tossed in 34 points. He blocked nine Tar Heel shots, five of them off the hand of 6-foot-10 Rusty Clark. And Lew even stole the ball at midcourt and dribbled in to score a crowd-raiser early in the second half.

"They are by far the greatest basketball team I've ever seen," North Carolina coach Dean Smith said.

And most of them will be back next year.

"We are going to have a fine team," UCLA coach John Wooden said. "I hope we will be back to defend our title. I wouldn't trade our chances with anyone."

In the game for third place, fired up Ohio State came from behind in the second half to beat Houston, 89-85, as burly Steve Howell scored 26 points.

Colonels Lose Game to Muskies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Kentucky Colonels learned last weekend the difference between a bad court and a good court might be the difference between getting in the American Basketball Association playoffs and staying in.

The New Jersey Americans, their armory in Teaneck, N.J., filled by a circus, came up with a bad court in Commack, N.Y., for their extra game against Kentucky Saturday night to decide the final Eastern Division playoff berth. The teams took a look at the court, decided they couldn't play and ABA commissioner forfeited the game to the Colonels.

But Minnesota provided a good court in Minneapolis Sunday and then ran the Colonels off it in the last quarter for a 115-102 victory in the first game of the playoffs.

The Muskies, who finished second in the division, broke an 89-all tie on Mel Daniels' basket en route to a 30-13 spree that sent them into the lead in the best-of-5 series.

Kentucky, trailing 71-57, had taken an 89-85 lead before Minnesota spurred.

Daniels finished with a club record 44 points, including 14 in the final quarter. Darrel Carrier had 29 points for Kentucky, which tied New Jersey for fourth in the division.

In the final regular season game, Anaheim outscored Oakland 147-135 in Anaheim, Les Seligsohn collected 35 points for the Amigos, his season's high. Gary Bradds was high for the Oaks with 32.

In the National Basketball Association, Boston beat Detroit 123-116 in the first game of their playoff and Los Angeles whipped Chicago 109-101 in their opener.

Sadecki Has Best Game in a 4-Hitter

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
This is the kind of exhibition baseball season it's been for Manager Bill Rigney—about the only thing he's had to comment on lately is what pitcher has looked best in shutting out his California Angels.

So far, it's been San Francisco southpaw Ray Sadecki. "That's the best we've seen this spring," Rigney said of Sadecki's pitching Sunday in the Giants' 4-0 victory over the Angels, who have been blanked in three of their last four games.

"I can see why they were excited about him last year," Rigney said after Sadecki scattered four hits over nine innings. "He must have pitched that way toward the end of the season."

Sadecki finished strongly for a 12-6 record in 1967.

Three of San Francisco's runs Sunday came on Willie McCovey's homer off George Brunet in the fourth inning.

In other games, Houston drubbed Oakland 11-4 for its eighth straight victory, Cincinnati edged St. Louis 6-5, Washington overcame Philadelphia 4-2, Cleveland nipped the Chicago Cubs 5-4, Detroit blanked the New York Yankees 2-0, Baltimore stopped the New York Mets 3-0, the Chicago White Sox beat Minnesota 6-5, Los Angeles downed Pittsburgh 4-0 and Boston whipped Atlanta 6-2.

While Sadecki was making a baseball look like a marble to the Angels, it continued to appear the size of a grapefruit to Sal Bando and Don Pavletich.

Bando hit his eighth homer of the spring for Oakland, and Pavletich belted his fourth and fifth for Cincinnati.

The two-run shot by Bando, who didn't hit any homers in 47 games with the Athletics last year, couldn't compensate for a sour fielding performance by his teammates. They committed four errors, two in the seventh inning when Houston scored five runs.

Pavletich, who socked six homers for Cincinnati last season, drove in the Reds' first four runs with a single and his two blasts, and they won it in the ninth on Bob Rauman's triple, Fred Whitfield's pinch double and Tony Perez's single.

Washington beat Philadelphia by scoring three runs with two out in the ninth inning. Bernie Allen's two-run double brought in two, and the third scored when shortstop Don Money lost a pop fly in the sun.

Cleveland overcame a 4-0 Cub lead by scoring five times in the seventh on a double, two singles, four walks and a hit batsman.

Denny McLain pitched the first seven innings and rookie Daryl Patterson finished up in Detroit's shutout of the Yankees. Willie Horton drove in both Detroit runs.

Eddie Watt yielded two Mets hits in the first inning, then he and Pete Richert, who took over in the sixth, pitched hitless ball the rest of the way for Baltimore. Larry Haney batted in Dave Johnson for all three Baltimore runs.

Pete Ward paced the White Sox, who overcame a 4-1 Minnesota lead, with a home run and two doubles.

Don Drysdale and Jim "Mudcat" Grant combined for a four-hitter against Pittsburgh at Nassau in The Bahamas. Bob Bailey batted in two Los Angeles runs.

Boston was shut out by Atlanta for five innings, but got going in the sixth when Mike Andrews homered.

Dayton and UCLA Win Cage Titles

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Dayton only made it into the National Invitation Tournament by a 10th of a 10-game winning streak, but the tourney-wise Flyers certainly knew what to do when they got there.

"We had the worst record in the tournament," said Flyer Coach Don Donohue, "and we had to sweat it out getting into the field. We had to win the last game of the season."

The Flyers, who won their last 10 regular season basketball games for a 17-9 record, stretched the string to 14 Saturday by beating Kansas 61-48 for the NIT championship.

Last year, the Flyers surprisingly finished second to UCLA in the NCAA tournament that UCLA won again Saturday night in Los Angeles. The Bruins clobbered North Carolina 78-55 as Lew Alcindor scored 34 points.

Ohio State upset Houston 89-85 for third place.

With sparkling Don May and three other starters back, Dayton was poised for another great year.

"When we were 7-9 in January," Donohue said, "I thought we needed a new coach, although seven of those defeats were by less than six points. This team definitely was as good as last year's team."

But everything seemed to fall into place in Dayton's last loss, at Louisville, Jan. 23.

"We were down by 16 when we started Dan Obrovac at center the second half, and lost by one," Donohue said. "Obrovac was a new kid after that. We're bigger and stronger at center with him than we were last year."

May, who won the Most Valuable Player award, hit 17 of his 22 points in the second half when the Flyers broke a 25-all halftime tie and pulled away to their second NIT title in 12 tries. Dayton won in its last appearance in 1962 after five second place finishes.

May, a 6-foot-4 second-team All-American, who became Dayton's all-time high scorer in the victory, also topped The Associated Press All-Tournament team.

Kansas, which finished with a 22-8 record after its first NIT, placed Jo Jo White on the first five. Others were Larry Newbold of Long Island U., Elinaldo Webster of St. Peter's and Bob Whitmore of Notre Dame, which beat St. Peter's 81-78 for third place.

Razorbacks Beaten by East Texas

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP)—Ray Rutledge of East Texas Baptist College struck out six batters and walked two as he pitched a no-hitter that downed the Arkansas Razorbacks 4-0 in the first game of a doubleheader here Saturday.

East Texas downed the Razorbacks 2-1 in the second game. Arkansas starter John Tyra was knocked out of the box in the fourth inning of the first game, when East Texas scored all its runs. The Razorbacks hit only four balls out of the infield.

East Texas took a 1-0 lead in the second inning of the nightcap, then pushed across the winning run in the bottom of the seventh after Arkansas tied it up in the sixth.

Mike Carr, who relieved Green in the sixth, got credit for the victory. Joe Fair was the loser.

The games were the first of the season for Arkansas.

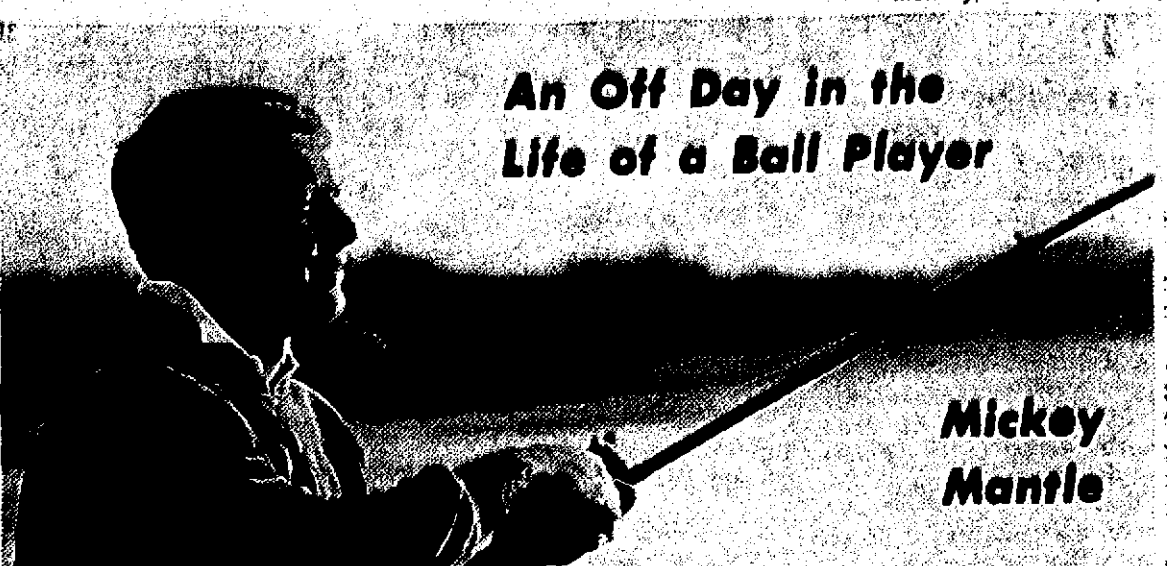

State Posts Win Over Iowa Team

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas State won the opening game of its baseball season here Saturday, downing Iowa State 8-4 on the pitching of John Ferrill and winner Rusty Bourg.

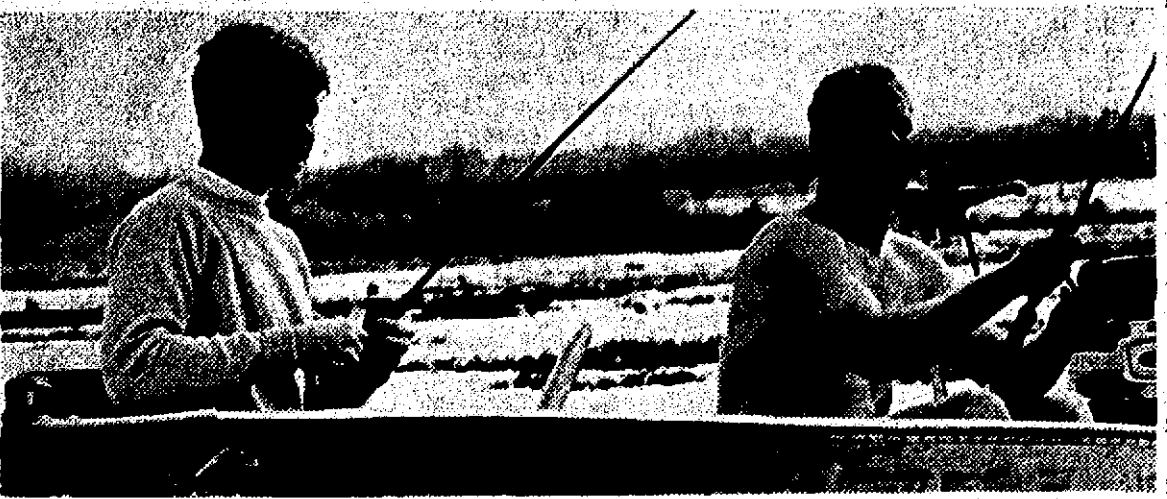

ASU later battled Northwestern to a 2-2 tie in a game called after 10 innings due to cold weather.

Northwestern had defeated Iowa State 3-2 in an earlier game.

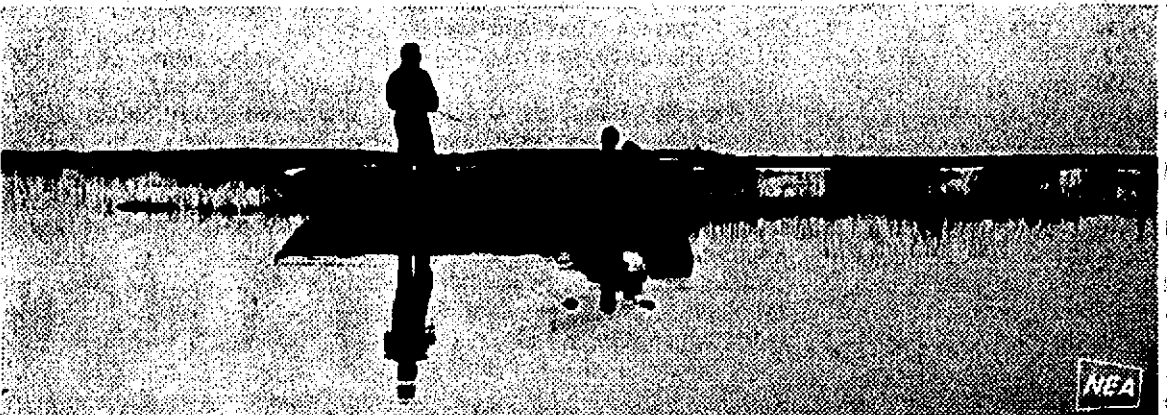

A-State pushed across four runs in the first inning of its clash with Iowa State. Criss McGuire led Indian batters with three straight hits.

Montreal Is Gaining Momentum

Montreal is gaining momentum for the Stanley Cup playoffs and Gordie Howe is making a last-minute run at the National Hockey League scoring title.

Too Blake's Canadiens romped through a 14-goal weekend, walloping Detroit 7-4 Saturday and coming back with a 7-2 thrashing of Chicago Sunday.

Detroit's Howe, who celebrates his 40th birthday next Sunday, had a three-goal, two-assist weekend and zoomed into second place in the scoring race with 80 points, just three behind Stan Mikita of Chicago.

Howe helped Detroit stun Boston 5-3 Sunday night and drop the Bruins into third place in the East behind New York which ripped Toronto 4-2. In Sunday's only other game, Minnesota and Pittsburgh battled to a 4-4 tie.

Saturday it was Toronto 3, New York 1; Los Angeles 4, Philadelphia 2; Minnesota 3-0 over Pittsburgh, and Oakland tied St. Louis 3-3.

John Ferguson scored twice as the Canadiens, who clinched first place in the East by winning Saturday, walloped Chicago Sunday. Bobby Rousseau had the three-goal hat trick in Saturday's clincher.

The weekend sweep gave Blake a total of 500 regular season victories in his 13 years as coach of the Canadiens.

Kenny Wharram scored twice for the Black Hawks, who slipped to fourth place. Both of Wharram's goals came on feeds from Mikita as the slick Chicago center clung to his scoring lead.

Howe, who has won the scoring title a record six times, scored his 39th of the season and Frank Mahovlich hit twice as Detroit rocked Boston.

Mahovlich's first goal—the 300th of his NHL career—snapped a 2-2 tie in the third period and then Howe set the Big M up for the clincher later in the period.

The loss dropped Boston into third place, two points back of New York. Both teams have three games remaining.

The Rangers got two goals from Orlando Kurtenbach to beat the Maple Leafs. New York hopped into a 3-0 lead in the first 11 minutes of the game and then held the Leafs off.

Kurtenbach, who had nine goals in the first 66 games this season, has scored five in the last five games as the Rangers, driving for second place, have won three of the last four.

Minnesota virtually clinched a West Division playoff spot when Pittsburgh defenseman Bill Spear knocked the puck into his own net and the Penguins had to settle for a tie with the Norin Stars.

Killy Pulls France Past Challengers

SUNVALLEY, Idaho (AP) — Jean-Claude Killy pulled France past annual challenger Austria in the American International team ski meet and had the World Cup all but locked up today.

But the flying Frenchman had to share the spotlight with Nancy Greene of Canada, who completed a three-event sweep Sunday by capturing the women's giant slalom.

Killy won the men's giant slalom Sunday by two-tenths of a second over Rick Chaffee of Rutland, Vt., covering the nine-tenths of a mile with 52 gates in one minute 31.38 seconds.

The victory, along with a first in the slalom and a second in the downhill earlier in the three-day meet, gave the French 58 points and 234 for the competition, Austria, which led after two days, fell to its usual second with 210. The U.S. squad was well back with 137.

Miss Greene, who now leads France's Isabelle Mir and Annie Famoso in World Cup competition, turned in a time of 1:40.49 Sunday to add the giant slalom to her downhill and slalom victories here.

Marielle Goitschell of France was second in 1:41.19 and Karen Budge of Jackson, Wyo., third in 1:42.71.

Wrestlers of Oklahoma State Win

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—"The kids thought they could still win it even after we'd lost all those matches in the quarterfinal. I wasn't so sure."

Coach Myron Roderick of the Oklahoma State Cowboys was talking about his team's great comeback to capture the 38th annual NCAA wrestling championships Saturday.

Oklahoma State trailed by 19 points starting the final day's competition. The Cowboys rolled up 31 points in the consolation rounds in the afternoon to build a seven-point lead. They still were in trouble, however, as their closest pursuers, Oklahoma and Iowa State, had four and three wrestlers in the finalist to one for the Cowboys.

Oklahoma State's one proved more than equal to the opposition's seven. Wayne Keller, a sophomore 123-pounder, accomplished the improbable. He beat Rick Sanders, a two-time national champion who had lost only one match in his 100 during a four-year career at Portland (Ore.) State.

Keller's victory was worth three points — just enough for Oklahoma State to win 81 to 78 over runner-up Iowa State, Oklahoma wound up with 74 for third defending champion Michigan State was fourth with 55 and Navy fifth at 35.

Miss Wright Heads Series of Pro Matches

MELBOURNE, Fla. (AP) — Mickey Wright of Dallas headed down the long line of ladies' Professional Golf Association tournaments today.

The 5-foot-9 blonde won $1,500 Sunday for first place in the Port Malabar Invitational Golf Tournament as she moved from two strokes off the pace to a three-stroke lead.

The swinging Texan opened the Malabar tournament two strokes off the three-under-par pace set by Marilyn Smith on Friday.

Saturday, Miss Wright narrowed the gap to a single stroke.

On Sunday she used a birdie of her own and a bogey from Miss Smith to pull even and then moved ahead by three strokes to leave Miss Smith second place and $1,200.

points compared to 216 for the University of Texas at Arlington, followed by the University of California with 188 points. The three-day meet at Emory University ended Saturday.

Eight Derby
Nominees
Race Today

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Eight nominees for the $50,000 added Arkansas Derby are among 10 three-year-olds entered in the featured $7,500 KARK Purse at Oaklawn Park today.

While none of the current leading derby contenders are on the roster for the mile and 70-yard test, there are some well-regarded colts who could move up in status with impressive showings.

The probable favorite is James E. Clay's Sallors Song who will be making his first start since finishing third to Mr. Crozy in the Southwest Handicap March 2.

Alumination Farm's Te Vega is the high weight under the allowance conditions with 122 pounds.

One of the question marks in the race is Marion H. Van Berg's speedy Texas Lad who was not nominated for the derby. He could be a strong factor if he is able to handle a distance of ground. Other possible threats are John Hundley's Beacoup D. Argent and Verna Lea Farm's coupling of Nodouble and Gene's Dancer.

Completing the field are W. F. Lucas' Dust Shot, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Sucher's Domino kid, Mrs. Helen Russell's Fantastic Career and Robert E. Lehmann's Am-A-Cutie. Am-A-Cutie is not eligible for the derby.

Lonnie Ray and Larry Snyder, the two leading jockeys at Oaklawn, each have eight mounts today. Ray took over the riding lead from Snyder 10 days ago but began serving a five-day suspension Tuesday.

Snyder rode three winners during the five days, including Pere Song Saturday, and caught Ray. Both have ridden 32 winners.

Snyder has 50 other mounts in the money out of 195 assignments. Ray has had a total of 57 mounts in the money out of 130 races.

Emedes Hinojosa is third with 21 winners, followed by Danny Whited with 19, William McKeever with 18 and Roger Cox, Richard Lawless and Stanley Spencer with 11 each.

Doug Davis Jr., Everett Hammond and R. L. Irwin lead the trainers with 18 winners each. J. B. Sonnier has saddled 12 winners, C. L. Wonder and E. G. Mahoney nine each and Jean Brennan eight.

The unofficial wagering and attendance figures last week at Oaklawn were the highest for any week of the current meeting and topped figures for the corresponding calendar week of 1967.

A total of $4,759,459 was wagered by 64,082 persons.

Unofficial wagering for the first six weeks of the meeting is $25,091,077, about 4.4 percent behind the amount handled during a corresponding period last year. The unofficial attendance of 355,911 is about 8.9 per cent behind last year's total for the first six weeks.

An odds-on favorite and a 20-1 shot captured two divisions of the $25,000 Razorback Handicap Saturday. Barbs Delight ($3.20) won the second division of the race after Missouri Gent ($43.80) captured the first section.

One Repeat
in Golden Gloves Meet

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Only one previous winner holds a 1968 National Golden Gloves boxing trophy today. Five others found the competition too tough in the Saturday night wrapup to the annual four-day slugfest.

Earl Large of Roswell, N.M., the defending 119-pound champion, demonstrated superior boxing skill in outpointing Leroy Gilmore of Detroit and became the only repeater.

Fort Worth, Tex., won the team trophy with 18 victories, edging Charlotte, N.C. by one. Fort Worth's Don O'Haire was given the Coach-of-the-Year award.

Winners in the 10 weight classes ranging from 112 pounds through heavyweight qualify for the U.S. Olympic trials.

The crowds for the tourney were disappointing each night. The 3,500-seat Utah State Fairgrounds Coliseum never was more than half full.

After the fighting was over — it took some 250 bouts — it took some 250 bouts — the champions were Rudy Barrientes, Fort Worth, 112; Large, 119; Lorenzo Trujillo, Fort Worth, 124; Ron Harris, Cleveland, 132; Harold Beal, Kansas City, 139; Richard Royal, Charlotte, 147.

TV NOTEBOOK

By JOAN CROSBY
NEA Entertainment Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA) — At the age of 30, Jack Jones says he has finally grown up.

He is singing better than ever, with much more feeling and maturity, and he is blossoming out as a good sketch comic on television. He recently appeared on The Carol Burnett Show, and he will be seen on The Red Skelton Hour on April 2 and, on April 17, he'll be a guest on The Jonathan Winters Show.

Jack Jones

He also has a new recording contract with RCA, which has just released his latest album, "If You Ever Leave Me." "When I started recording," he said, "I was so green and scared and stiff it was impossible to make a good record. But when you're starting in this business, if you go in as a know-it-all, you're dead."

If you go in as someone who listens to the more experienced people around you, it's fine, but you fall into a trap common among singers—your manager tells you what to do and how to dress and where to go.

"I've grown up gradually, but everything has fallen into place the last couple of years. My wife, Jill St. John, and I met and now I couldn't be happier."

Jack deliberately holds his television appearances down to about six a year. But he will have a special on NBC-TV next fall, which will be taped in the spring. He had a special several years ago (and also a syndicated one-shot, which is making the rounds), but that was before he grew up.

How now, Marlyn Mason, a pretty, talented young lady who has more animation than a Disney cartoon and more vocal power than a politician throwing his hat in the ring.

She has got to be the only actress in the world who can go on television with Johnny Carson, tell how she spent her first several months in New York sharing apartments with various gentlemen, and make it sound as innocent as a nursery rhyme.

Marlyn is a Californian who came out of the Billy Barnes Review to act on nearly every television series imaginable. She played the ingenue in both Brigadoon and Carousel on television. Now she is starring on Broadway in the musical, "How Now, Dow Jones."

She is so honest that she makes a surprising revelation about that moment when she Marlyn Mason first faced a Broadway audience, a moment which is supposed to be the dream of every actress. "It was a big disappointment," she said. "Coming from California and having been raised on a farm, I thought when you walked on stage there would be a big TA-DA. But if I divided up what goes into the experience, there would be more unpleasant than pleasant about it. All is fine when I get before the audience, however.

"On opening night, my mother was in the dressing room and I said to her, 'Mother, it's not happening. I don't feel that excitement. I'm not bitter but I am frustrated. I always thought the life was so glamorous, now I find I'm asking, 'Is it worth it?' Then I get on stage and it is."

"How Now, Dow Jones" underwent several changes and much rewriting on the road. "I started out saying yes to everything, even if I thought a change was wrong. Then once I spoke up in as ladylike a way as possible, I should have screamed and yelled. Once I ran off to my dressing room and cried, thinking, 'Oh God, I'll be glad when we open and everyone will go away and leave the actors to act.'"

THE WELL CHILD Best to Limit Child's Television Viewing Time

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Jim: "You have an interesting match point hand for today's article."

Oswald: "Any rubber bridge player sitting South would surely have bid spades and almost surely have insisted on spades as the final contract."

Jim: "He would score 150 points for honors and would have no trouble making his spade game."

Oswald: "Most duplicate players would wind up at four spades also. This South player wanted to get a top score and hoped to make as many tricks at no-trump as at spades. He wasn't happy with his decision when he saw the dummy and noted that the spade bidders would make four odd."

West held the king of clubs and five odd if East held that card. Of course, a rubber bridge player would have no worry at the three no-trump contract. There were nine top tricks staring him in the face."

Jim: "I suppose that your hero made five no-trump for a real top while the spade bidders made only four odd."

Oswald: "That's exactly what happened. East ducked the heart lead and South was in with the king. He proceeded to run his spades and West signaled club strength with his first discard. South decided to believe him. East believed his partner also and thought that he would play to beat the contract in case West had been signaling that he held the ace of clubs.
Therefore, he discarded two clubs, a diamond, and two hearts on the spades."

Jim: "Then all South had to do was cash his ace of clubs and play the ace and another diamond."

Oswald: "Exactly. East was on lead and forced to play ace and another heart, whereupon dummy made the last two tricks with the queen of hearts and 10 of diamonds."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Texas has more cattle than people. But recently the two have been running a close race. The World Almanac reports. In 1957, official estimates put the number of Texans at 10,873,000 and their cattle at 10,757,000.
Some other states, like
Missouri and Wisconsin, also have about as many cattle as people.

Plane With 61 Aboard Down at Sea

By RONALD THOMSON
Associated Press Writer
FISHGUARD, Wales (AP) — A massive air and sea search was resumed at dawn today to an Irish airliner that spun into the Irish Sea Sunday. There was little hope that any of the 61 persons aboard survived.

Royal Navy ships and Royal Air Force planes swept 1,000 square miles of the sea about 15 miles off Strumble Head in southwest Wales—the last known position of the Aer Lingus turbo-prop viscount before it crashed just before noon.

The search that was mounted after the four-engine plane disappeared Sunday turned up only one clue to its fate, a briefcase found floating in the water. It was taken ashore for examination.

No Americans were known to have been aboard the plane, which was on a scheduled flight from Cork to London. The passengers included nine Swiss citizens who had been on a fishing vacation in southern Ireland.

Seconds before the crash, another Irish airliner in the area picked up a radio message apparently from the ill-fated plane that it was spinning at 1,000 feet.

The message, much of it lost in background noise, was: "We moved... breaking up... that's better... Who are you talking to?... 1,000 feet, spinning rapidly."

An airline spokesman said the weather at the time of the crash was normal and "nothing that a Viscount could not cope with."

However, rain swept in from the State Income Tax Totals $2.2 Billion

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A returns analysis issued by the state Revenue Department says the total reported income of all Arkansians who filed state income tax returns in 1967 was $2,250,431,766.

Only 5,474 returns, or one percent of the total, were in the $25,000 and above category while 66,309 returns were between $3,000 and $4,000.

About 29 percent of the total returns showed income of less than $3,000, the maximum income line on the government's poverty scale. There were 24,350 returns in the $1,000 and less category.

A Husband in South Pacific Island Lets Wife Know Who's Boss

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

"The first prize of marriage for girls on the South Pacific island of Malekula is the loss of two front teeth. After buying his bride—in exchange for pigs and yams—the tribesman has her two front teeth knocked out in a solemn ceremony following the marriage rites. Believe it or not, it makes the brides feel proud."

Never give up. It took Christopher Columbus 18 years to get backing for his expedition to find a quick sea route to the Orient—but he came up with a new world.

The boom in skiing has brought a prosperity boom to Japan. It has 6 million of the world's 30 to 40 million skiers, and last year manufactured more skis than any other nation — 1.7 million pairs.

In America we answer the phone by saying, "Hello." The English do it with a crisp self-identification, such as, "Rodney here." But the cautious Russians give out no information at all until they are sure who is at the other end of the line. When they pick up a ringing phone, they ask, "Who is talking?" It still pays to be careful in the U.S.S.R.

Moderate Republicans Seeking a Nationwide Alternative Candidate

WASHINGTON (AP) — GOP moderates who had urged Nelson A. Rockefeller to seek the party's presidential nomination have formed a nationwide "Coalition for a Republican Alternative."

And Sen. Jacob K. Javits says he will push for a Rockefeller favorite-son candidacy in New York State, a move he predicted would stir up national interest in Rockefeller for the nomination.

Rockefeller announced last week he won't be an active candidate but left the door open for a possible draft.

Word of the coalition came Sunday from Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., who denied it was a move to stop Richard M. Nixon from getting the nomination. The aim, Morton said, is to generate debate among Republicans on Vietnam and other issues.

Morton reportedly had been in line to manage any Rockefeller campaign.

The coalition was disclosed by Morton in a television interview and formally announced in New York by Stewart R. Mott.

Mott, son of multimillionaire philanthropist Charles Stewart Mott, had previously pledged

Israel Attack Is Condemned by UN Group

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council on Sunday night condemned Israel Sunday night for last week's attack on Arab guerrilla bases in Jordan. But Israel brushed aside the rebuke and insisted it acted in self defense.

The 15-nation council voted as the guns of Israel and Jordan opened up anew along the Jordan River frontier.

The council resolution also deplored "all violent incidents in violation" of the 1967 Arab-Israeli cease-fire. But Arab delegates challenged the U.S. view that those words applied to Arab terrorist raids into Israel.

The resolution further deplored loss of life and property from the attack. It declared that such actions could not be tolerated and that the council "would have to consider further and more effective steps as envisaged" in the U.N. charter to prevent their repetition—a hint at economic and military sanctions. It called on Israel to "desist from" mistreating Arabs in occupied territory.

his readiness to help finance Rockefeller's campaign if he ran.

Javits, Morton and Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., said Nixon does not have the nomination sewed up.

Javits said he will nominate Rockefeller to be New York's favorite son at the Republican state committee meeting in Albany, N.Y., Wednesday.

"He'll go to the convention with a very strong bloc of votes which will put him before the convention" in opposition to Nixon, Javits said.

"This will stir the pot," Javits said of the favorite-son action, adding that efforts will continue in recruiting Rockefeller support nationally.

Hatfield also discussed the favorite-son approach, lagging Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York and Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois as Republicans with alternatives to the Vietnam policy.

Hatfield, who opposes the administration's war course, also said he would support for president Sens. Robert F. Kennedy or Eugene J. McCarthy, both seeking the Democratic nomination. If Nixon's Vietnam position were not modified,

"I would support what would be the best for America in solving this dilemma of peace and war," Hatfield said. "I don't think my party comes first—my country comes first."

Morton and Javits appeared on NBC's "Meet the Press;" Hatfield was on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

New Line of Attack Against Cancer Told by Research Scientist

By RALPH DIGHTON
AP Science Writer
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A new line of attack against cancer—starving the tumor mass by cutting off its blood supply—is reported by a research scientist.

Dr. Melvin Greenblatt of the Chicago Medical School said studies with hamsters indicate tumors make a chemical which signals surrounding parts of the body to grow new blood vessels to feed them.

"If we can identify the substance, it may be possible to produce antibodies against it," he told an American Cancer Society symposium for science writers Sunday. "This would interrupt the chemical signal, stop the growth of new blood vessels and thus starve the tumor."

Antibodies are substances the body produces to fight disease-causing material.

Growth of new blood vessels is a process normally triggered by cuts or bruises. Wounded areas are supplied with new blood vessels to replace those severed or damaged.

Dr. Greenblatt found that tumors call forth a similar response in tests with hamsters. After baring a membrane on the cheek pouch, he covered it with porous filter paper, then placed cancerous tissue on the paper.

A chemical made by the cancer filter through the paper and started growth of new blood vessels in the normal membrane.

Showdown in Panama Civil Strife

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
Associated Press Writer
PANAMA (AP) — National Guard troops smashed the headquarters of opponents of President Marco A. Robles today and arrested an opposition leader after the National Assembly swore in a new president—an action Robles ignored.

The troops moved in two hours after twice-deposed ex-President Arnulfo Arias called for nationwide civil resistance—understood to mean a general strike—in support of the assembly's decision to convict Robles of unconstitutional political activity and suspend him from office.

A make-or-break showdown seemed imminent. The National Guard, the nation's only military force, already had announced it could not obey the assembly decision and said it would await an opinion from the Supreme Court, due to reconvene next Monday.

Witnesses said the guardsmen smashed windows and doors and moved in behind a barrage of tear gas bombs shortly after 2 a.m. in the two-story headquarters of the National Union, a five-party coalition opposition opposed to Robles' government.

Hildegardo Nicosia, the union's secretary-general, was among scores of demonstrators reported arrested in front of opposition headquarters. Nicosia told newsmen he thought he was the only official arrested.

With 12 minor, staying away from... peaceful proceedings, the assembly voted 30-0 Sunday to convict Robles of charges brought by his opponents—that he influenced the selection of a candidate for the May presidential election, allowed the use of government facilities for political propaganda.

New Marine Chief in Vietnam Says Enemy 'Can't Force Us Out'

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The new Marine Corps commandant says the Communist North Vietnamese "can't force us out" of besieged Khe Sanh by bombarding its airstrip and preventing its resupply.

Gen. Leonard F. Chapman Jr. said, "We've got ample helicopter capability which doesn't need any airstrip and we also have an air-drop capability."

The 15,000 or more Communist troops threatening the Marine-held bastion in northwestern South Vietnam have intensified their bombardment of Khe Sanh in recent days.

Also, there are reports of anti-aircraft artillery which could seriously threaten American planes and helicopters supplying and protecting the base.

Chapman, who took over leadership of the 300,000-man Marine Corps Jan. 1, said in an exclusive interview that if the North Vietnamese intend to assault Khe Sanh with infantry "they are going to have to hurry because the weather is running out on them."

He said "they not only have to have bad weather to assault it, but they've got to have bad weather to hold it" in the face of U.S. air and artillery power.

Critics have argued Khe Sanh is not worth the blood and resources being spent to hold it. Chapman disagreed, saying the position sits astride main infiltration routes—"as long as we hold them, they can't use them."

"Of course, there is also the psychological aspect of the thing as it is now built up," the Marine chief said, meaning that Khe Sanh has taken on a symbolic quality akin to Dien Bien Phu, the French outpost overrun at the end of the French-Indochina war.

On other points, Chapman also: —Opposed any change in basic U.S. strategy in Vietnam and voiced confidence the United States can reach its goals there "if we just persevere."

—Rejected the idea of pulling U.S. forces back to defending population centers and bases and leaving the countryside unprotected.

"I certainly would not favor what is called the enclave strategy," he said. "I think that is tantamount to certain defeat."

—Conceded the Communist winter offensive registered shocks to the allied cause and dealt "a setback to many things, particularly the pacification program."

—Forecast that in the long run the net effect of that offensive "will be favorable to us" because of Communist violence against Vietnamese civilians.

245 Enemy Supply Boats Are Smashed

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — American helicopter gunships and fighter-bombers have smashed 245 sampans carrying weapons and food to Viet Cong troops in the Mekong Delta in the last three days, the U.S. Command said today.

Gunships destroyed 114 sampans and damaged another 50 Sunday at an enemy base camp near the Cambodian border, headquarters said. Pilots spotted the flotilla while flying support missions for South Vietnamese civilian irregulars and their U.S. Special Forces advisers fighting the Viet Cong 116 miles southwest of Saigon.

Headquarters said 20 Viet Cong soldiers were killed and 43 huts destroyed. It reported two civilian irregulars wounded.

Earlier Sunday, South Vietnamese infantrymen spotted a force estimated as a battalion moving in sampans near the delta city of Sa Dec, 80 miles southwest of Saigon, and called in air strikes. U.S. pilots reported sinking 36 sampans and said the enemy fled into nearby woods.

Numerous secondary explosions have been reported after the recent attacks on the sampans, indicating they were carrying ammunition or fuel.

U.S. officials said the volume of war supplies, presumably coming from Cambodia along many rivers and canals, has increased considerably in recent days.

This indicates the Viet Cong may be replenishing supplies depleted during their lunar new year offensive for possible fresh attacks in the delta. U.S. officials said the allies have begun a major effort to stop the sampan traffic.

On South Vietnam's northern frontier, North Vietnamese gunners shot down two U.S. Marine helicopters near Khe Sanh. One, a gunship, was attacking an enemy bunker complex two miles northwest of the Marine fortress. Its four crewmen were rescued but suffered burns when the chopper crashed.

A Marine patrol had called for gunships and artillery support after clashing briefly with the enemy platoon. It reported 31 North Vietnamese soldiers and five Marines were killed and four Marines wounded.

Enemy groundfire also hit a big CH-53 Sea Knight helicopter landing with cargo five miles southwest of Camp Carroll, the artillery base to the east that supports Khe Sanh. Although moderately damaged, the helicopter landed safely and the crew was uninjured, spokesmen said.

About 100 shells hit the Khe Sanh base Sunday, a sharp drop from the more than 600 rounds fired into the fortress on each of the two previous days. Casualties were reported light.

In reply to the earlier heavy shelling, U.S. B-52 bombers had dropped as much as 1,000 tons of explosives Saturday night and Sunday on suspected positions of the estimated 16,000 enemy troops believed encircling Khe Sanh. The eight-engine Stratofortresses flew six more raids Sunday night and today.

Prisoner Is Stabbed to Death

CUMMINS PRISON FARM, Ark. (AP) — Dan Watkins Jr., 28, of Hamburg, who was serving a one-year sentence from Jefferson County for assault with intent to kill, was stabbed to death here Saturday.

Urban said Watkins was stabbed once in the chest with a scaling knife during an argument in a barracks.

Texarkana Marine Saves Woman, 80

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — A Marine private who was home on leave from Camp Pendleton, Calif., was credited Sunday with saving the life of an 80-year-old woman.

Authorities said Monty Blundell, 18, of Texarkana rescued the elderly woman from her burning home. Blundell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Blundell, said he was across the street from the woman's home when his sister told him the woman's house was on fire.

"I went outside and somebody yelled there was someone inside the burning house," Blundell said. "I ran inside to see if I could get them out."

Blundell said the woman was in her kitchen. He said he picked her up and kicked the back door down.

Dodgers Try to Forget Last Year

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer
VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Zollo Versalles has unpleasant memories of 1967 in Minnesota, but his new Los Angeles teammates are trying hard to help him forget.

It's a kind of group therapy for the Dodgers. They, too, have been trying to forget 1967 all winter.

Versalles, the American League's Most Valuable Player in 1965, struggled through the worst year of his career, batting just .200 for the Twins and wishing he were miles away from Minnesota.

The Dodgers, meanwhile, stumbled through their worst National League season in 62 years, finishing eighth after winning the pennant in 1966.

Now, Versalles is the Dodgers' shortstop, having come to Los Angeles with another disgruntled Twin, pitcher Jim Grant, in a winter trade that sent catcher John Roseboro and relief pitchers Ron Perranoski and Bob Miller to Minnesota.

Zollo can return the favor by plugging a big gap in the Dodgers' infield opened when shortstop Maury Willis was dealt to Pittsburgh last year.

Willis hit .302 for the Pirates while Bob Bailey and Gene Michael, picked up by Los Angeles in the deal, plodded home at .227 and .202, respectively.

They had plenty of company. Jim Lefebvre developed a power failure, sagging from 24 homers in 1966 to eight last year; Willie Davis fell from a .284 average to .257 and Ron Fairly plummeted from .288 to .220.

"It was almost like a plague," said Fairly. "There's only one thing about a season like that. It surely humbles you."

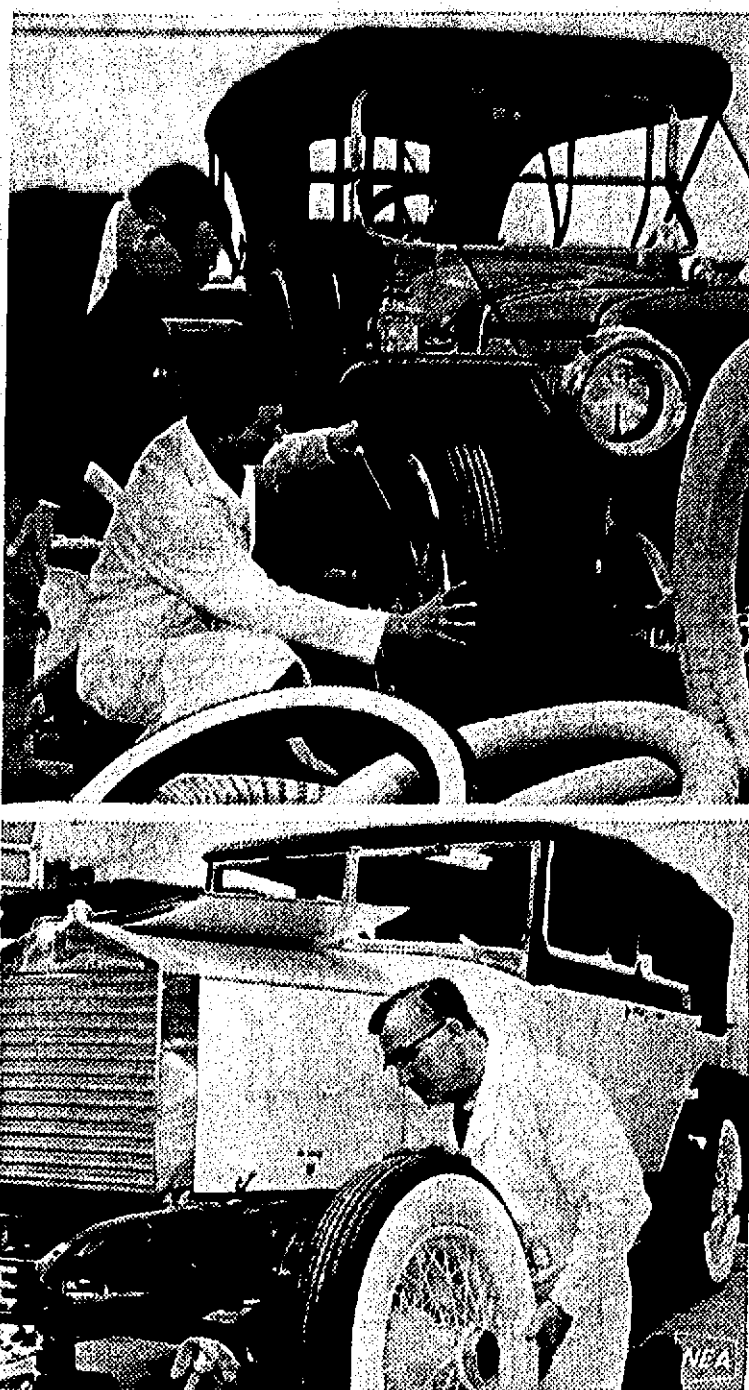

The rehabilitation of the Dodgers started with the Minnesota deal, picked up steam when catcher Tom Haller was obtained from San Francisco in exchange for Ron Hunt and progressed through a rigorous winter conditioning program that carried into spring training.

Walter Alston, dean of major league managers, is cautiously optimistic about the Dodgers' 1968 chances as he embarks on his 15th go-round. "We've filled a few holes," he said, "and we might bounce back a little higher than expected."

Pitching was, and still is, the big plus for the Dodgers. Claude Osteen, 17-17, Don Drysdale, 13-16, Don Sutton, 11-15, and Bill Singer, 12-8, are returning starters. Rookie Alan Foster also has earned a starting spot. Grant, 5-6 with the Twins, will start or relieve, or both.

Phil Regan and Jim Brewer head up the bullpen crew. Newcomers John Purdin, Mike Kekich, John Duffie, Jack Billingham, Vicente Romo, Larry Staab and Leon Everitt, all impressive thus far, are battling for the remaining two or three spots.

Haller, .251 with the Giants, gets the nod at catcher, backed by Jeff Torborg and Jim Campanis. Wes Parker, .247, is at first base, with Lefebvre at second and Bailey at third. Davis, Fairly and Al Ferrara, .277,

Associated Press Writer
TOKYO (AP)—The Stars and Stripes no longer flies over Mount Suribachi on the island battlefield of Iwo Jima, a spokesman in the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo reported today.

For years, Suribachi was one of the few places in the world where the American flag flew 24 hours a day instead of from dawn to sunset.

A photograph by Associated Press photographer Joe Rosenthal of the flag-raising on Suribachi by U.S. Marines at the height of the battle for Iwo Jima in 1945 was one of the most memorable to come out of World War II.

Last week a small group of Marines from Honolulu lowered the flag on Suribachi "quietly and without much ceremony." A bronze replica of the flag was placed at the site.

The spokesman said he had no other details. Iwo was one of the bloodiest battlefields in the Pacific fighting. The invading Marines lost 5,895 men, and soldiers and sailors who died there raised the toll to 6,821. The Japanese lost 19,000 men.

Iwo is one of the Volcano Islands which along with the Bonins are to be restored to Japanese rule later this year. Since the war, the Volcanos and Bo-lorn as the starting outfielders, with rookie Jim Fairly close behind.

nins have been under American administration.

Recently there had been discussion that the Japanese might object to the American flag flying over their territory when the island is restored.

The Tokyo newspaper Asahi Shimbun termed American desire to keep the flag above Suribachi as "very childish."

The American monument atop Suribachi is a small white-washed concrete platform which already contained two bronze plaques. One notes this was the spot upon which the flag was raised and the other contains Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz's quote that "among the Americans who served on Iwo Jima uncommon valor was a common virtue."

HUTCHINSON, Kan. (AP)—San Jacinto of Pasadena, Tex., runner-up last year, won the National Junior College Basketball Tournament Championship Saturday by edging Mercer County of Trenton, N.J., 66-64.

San Jacinto's season record was 44-2, Mercer's 30-3.

Murray College of Oklahoma placed third; Northeastern of Sterling, Colo., fourth; Iowa Central fifth; Vincennes, Ind., sixth; Miami-Dade, Fla., seventh, and Robert Morris of Carthage, Ill., eighth.

Tom's GI Wonders About Viet War

By ROBERT COCHNAR

NEW YORK—(NEA)—War novels that explore the hearts and minds of fighting men usually are written well after the fighting is over. Examples are "Battle Cry," "The Naked and the Dead" and "From Here to Eternity."

Now, as if out of the day's news, comes a first novel from Tom Tiede, one of the most highly acclaimed "eye and ear" war reporters, that plumbs the soul of the American fighting man.

Tiede's novel, "Coward" ($5.95, Trident Press) reflects his sympathy, admiration and above all understanding of those he calls "the legions of ordinary people who are snatched from their homes, spirited into the obscurity of war and there suddenly commit actions to beggar belief."

Told largely in dialog and in fictional format, Tiede's book reports the sights, sounds, smells and feelings of a war he has seen in three tours of front-line duty as a correspondent, a performance which has won him the prestigious Ernie Pyle Memorial Award and several other writing prizes.

If "Coward" has a hero, it must be Pvt. Nathan Long, whose thoughts and actions thread through the book, tying together the true life slices of men at war. And Long, by the standard definition, must be called a coward. He refuses to fight.

A discussion Long has with a priest who attempts to convince him of the responsibilities of soldiers establishes the private's long, lonely battle with his conscience:

"The priest interjected: 'No one wants to serve in Vietnam.'"

"No sir, I guess not," Long replied.

"But the laws of our land are quite unyielding on this point. If a man is of age and is called, he must serve . . . in peace or war."

"Yessir."

"It must be that way. If every soldier were to be given the right to choose whether he wished to fight or not, this nation would not exist today."

"Nathan agreed respectfully, but added a rebuttal. 'Father, if every man in this nation and every other nation were to speak the truth, they would admit fear of war. And if all of them had the choice, they would not go to war. And all of the nations would not have to worry about existence and nonexistence.'

"It doesn't work that way,"

the priest said.

"Why?" Nate asked.

"You're smart enough to know."

"No," Nate sighed. "I'm dumb enough not to know."

Tiede's narrative, except for his powerfully written descriptions of firefights and the business of living and dying in hot, bug-infested jungles, is sparse. The dialogue carries the story. And it is here where the author's keen eye and ear for detail keep the reader interested and turning pages to the explosive conclusion.

"Coward" is more than a good adventure story. It is a thorough investigation of a young man, buffeted by the pressures of a powerful establishment, trying to remain loyal to his beliefs.

Finally, the book offers a comprehensive picture of Vietnam which somehow is never really seen on television. For the parents of soldiers whose letters carefully avoid the pain and deadening frustration of a vicious war, "Coward" should be required reading. In fact, anyone concerned about Vietnam—and that ought to be everyone—will find Tiede's novel a valuable addition to his library.

Justice Will Seek Re-election

LITTLE ROCK (AP)— Chief Justice Carleton Harris of the Arkansas Supreme Court said Saturday that he would seek re-election this year.

Harris, 58, a native of Pine Bluff, was elected in 1956 to fill an unexpired term and now is completing his first full eight-year term.

He graduated from the Cumberland University law school in 1932 and served three terms in the Arkansas House of Representatives. He also served as prosecuting attorney of the 11th Judicial District (Desha, Lincoln and Jefferson counties) and chancery and probate judge of the 4th Chancery District (Jefferson, Arkansas, Lincoln and Cleveland counties).

Harris served two years in the Marine Corps during World War II.

Powell Sees Civil War of Young Folks

NEW YORK (AP)— Deposed Congressman Adam Clayton Powell predicts "civil war" by young people over the nation's race situation.

Powell, back from an 18-month self-imposed exile in Bimini, the Bahamas, roared an emphatic "no!" when asked at a news conference Sunday if he envisioned a race war this summer.

But, Powell added, he believed that both white and black youths would join in battling the "white power" structure.

The 59-year-old Powell, who returned Friday night, said he came home to purge his district of "Uncle Toms."

Meanwhile the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said at a news conference in Harlem Sunday that he is still committed to nonviolence "and I think the vast majority of Negroes think that way."

The Nobel Peace Prize winner said he was reluctant to predict riots this summer because "predicting them is like inviting them."

Powell also delivered a short sermon at the Abyssinian Baptist Church, where he has been pastor for many years.

Powell, a Democrat, was ousted from Congress on charges of misusing public funds, and charged with contempt in defying New York courts over full payment of a libel judgment against him. When he returned to New York he was released on parole pending appeal of his conviction. He promised a judge

Woman Goes on Trial in Slaying

WALNUT RIDGE, Ark. (AP)— Mrs. Myrtle Clark of Walnut Ridge went on trial here today for the shotgun slaying of her husband, Millard M. Clark, 51, on March 18, 1967.

Mrs. Clark is charged with first degree murder in the slaying, which occurred in an apartment at a shopping center Clark owned here.

Clark, a widely known contractor and businessman, was shot once in the back of the head.

Mrs. Clark has been free on bond since April 25, 1967, when Prosecutor David Hodges filed the murder charge against her.

The trial was postponed once because Mrs. Clark's attorney, Fred M. Pickens of Newport, was ill. It was postponed again in January when a witness for the prosecution was hospitalized.

Marionettes Coming Here Wednesday

Once upon a time, a charming fellow by the name of "Pied Piper" came to Hamelin Town, played on a flute, and the children came from all the countryside to hear his song and follow him.

In the very near future, a similar, and as momentous event will take place in Hope, Arkansas. A modern "Pied Piper" in the person of Nicolo, a puppeteer, will come to town. The children will hear his Piper's call, and follow him to the Hope High School & Hopewell Auditorium for there, on Wednesday, March 27th and his troupe will perform in a full length musical play — "Hansel and Gretel".

The Hope Junior Auxiliary is proud, therefore, to present the in "Hansel and Gretel". This sparkling production is based on the beloved tale of the master-story-tellers, the Brothers Grimm, enhanced by the music of the opera by Humperdinck.

The artists in Nicolo's New York City Studios, under the inspired supervision of master puppeteer, Nicholas Coppola, enjoyed the hundreds of hours spent in creating the delightful wooden actors who tell this story of magic and suspense with so much charm and vitality.

Noted scenic designer, William Pitkin, surrounds the puppet actors with exquisite fairy-tale settings. One of the most spectacular scenes takes place in the Black Forest where Hansel and Gretel meet the captivating woodland creatures and the kindly Fourteen Angels of Goodness. The audience will be equally fascinated by the delightful, delicious, delectable House of the Gingerbread Witch.

The costumes at Nicolo Studios have painstakingly dressed the marionettes in vivid colors in an authentic Bavarian style. The ingenious styling of these costumes, gives the figures complete freedom of movement for their dance sequences.

This is an unusually fine theatre production, and one that every child should see. Mark the date on your calendar, Wednesday March 27th. The program will be given at Hope High School and Hopewell Auditorium. Performance time - High School - 9:00 & 10:30 a.m.; Hopewell - 2:00 p.m. Admission - 25c. The Junior Auxiliary is proud to present Nicolo Marionettes.

DO-IT-YOURSELF

Pick the Right Ladder for the Job

By MR. FIX

What kind of ladder you will buy, or if you even will buy one, depends a lot on just how much you plan to do around the house, the kind of house you own, even your own height and weight.

If you plan to paint your house, you will need a ladder that will put you within reach of the highest eave. If you plan to work on the roof, you will need a ladder that puts you above the eaves. If you will need it for its checking and cleaning gutters, a shorter ladder will do.

Indoors, a step-ladder will serve every purpose. Smaller step-stools will take care of day-in, day-out reaching.

If you are tall, you can provide some of the extra reach yourself. If short, make up for it with extra length in the ladder. If you tend to be heavy, get a good, sturdy ladder.

For the one-floor, ranch-style house, a straight ladder (sometimes called a ranch ladder) should be enough if there isn't much of a roof overhang. If there is an overhang, remember that a ladder tall enough to rest against the overhang may put you too far away from the wall to reach it. You may have to settle for more than one ladder and the best way to do this is with an extension—two ladders that can extend to a great length but which you could take apart, with one section fitting below the overhang.

For the multistory house, the extension ladder is the only thing.

The combination ladder looks like a step-ladder until you notice that the rear rail has rungs. As a step-ladder, two people can work on it together, one on each side. The rear unit can be flipped up and used as an extension ladder. Or, like the extension ladder, the combination ladder can be taken apart and used as separate ladders.

Once upon a time, all ladders were made of wood. Now you have a choice of wood or metal and the metal is generally aluminum, sometimes magnesium.

Wood is heavier, is subject to rot, splinters, and may crack or split. But a good wood ladder does not go all at once, as a cheap metal one might, and there is a sturdy, comfortable feel to wood.

Whether wood or metal, when you buy a ladder buy the best. It will last a life-time and your life—literally—could depend on its quality.

The advantage with aluminum ladders is their lack of weight. If left outdoors, metal ladders are not subject to rotting.

One big warning, though, in connection with metal ladders—don't tangle with electric power lines. The combination is lethal. Of course, even on a wooden ladder you should be staying clear of power lines.

Wood ladders should be free of splinters, have smoothly rounded corners. Metal ladders should not have sharp edges or burrs. Better ladders have reinforced rungs. You may want to pay extra for flat steps, rather than round rungs.

Even with all features apparently the same, there may be differences that account for a price difference. The length may be the same, but not the width. Rails and rungs may not be as thick and wide.

Humphrey Is Critic of Riot Report

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)— While President Johnson continues to refrain from detailed comment on the report of his riot commission, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey is emerging as the prime administration critic of the group's recommendations.

Johnson, under heavy attack from political opponents such as Sens. Eugene J. McCarthy and Robert F. Kennedy for not speaking out in favor of the commission's proposals, had another chance at a news conference last Friday. As before, he remained largely noncommittal.

Noting that he thought it was "a very good commission," the President told reporters that "a good many of the things they recommended we had already made decisions on."

"We don't agree with everything in this report and they don't agree with everything we are doing," Johnson said, adding that "there is a general 'simpatico' of views" between his Cabinet and the commission.

But Humphrey said the report's conclusion that "our nation is moving toward two societies", one white, one black, is "open to some challenge." He broadened his attack in a speech Sunday night.

He called for "historical perspective" on what has already been accomplished, thus reflecting the evident administration opinion that the report should have praised its efforts in the antipoverty, urban and education fields.

"We are not just starting out," Humphrey said, noting that "in the 1960s we have experienced the greatest and most hopeful breakthroughs in race relations in the past 100 years" both through government action and "the dramatic, nonviolent demonstrations for racial and economic justice."

The vice president charged that in saying "white society condones" the segregation and poverty of the Negro ghettos, the commission "comes dangerously close to a doctrine of group guilt."

But the main thrust of Humphrey's criticism was directed against the commission's basic conclusion, the movement toward two societies "one black, one white—separate and unequal."

"This is only part of the picture, and I do not believe it is the main part," Humphrey said, calling separatism "a minority movement, led by black and white extremists who can take advantage of current frustrations but do not speak for the bulk of Americans black and white."

But in assailing "white racism" and the way it contributed to the riots, the commission made clear it was thinking of something much broader than the work of white and black extremists.

It cited "pervasive discrimination and segregation in employment, education and housing," "black in-migration and white exodus" which is leaving central cities black, surrounded by white suburbs, and the impact of poverty and segregation in destroying opportunity and enforcing failure in the black ghettos.

Rather than individual "white racists," the city riots were aimed at "local symbols of white American society, authority and property in Negro neighborhoods," it said.

Agreement Among All Copper Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — All four of the nation's giant copper producers have now reached tentative wage-hike agreements with their unions but it still is not known when thousands of workers will return to their jobs, ending an eight-month strike.

Anaconda Co. and American Smelting & Refining Co., announced Sunday tentative settlements covering more than 15,000 strikers. But they said local issues still must be ironed out at their 28 mines and factories spread over a 14-state area.

In addition, ratification of the new pacts has yet to be voted upon by 15,000 Anaconda-American Smelting workers or by 10,000 others at Kennecott Copper Corp.

Contributing to the uncertainty of when production will be resumed on a wide scale, settlements also must be reached covering another 10,000 workers at Kennecott and Anaconda plants.

A total of 26 unions a wide variety of skilled jobs are involved in the complex strike.

"I don't know when they're going back to work," said an industry spokesman after the new agreements were announced.

The fourth big producer, Phelps Dodge, reached agreement last week with 6,500 workers and they are the only strikers back on the job at major plants. Several smaller firms settled earlier with a total of about 10,000 employees.

The Phelps Dodge pact provides a 54-cent hourly pay hike over 40 months plus fringe benefits which bring the hourly hike to $1.13. The new agreements are in this range.

President Johnson summoned both sides to Washington three weeks ago for White House talks aimed at settling the prolonged dispute. He said it was threatening the nation's economy as well as its defense effort.

Wages before the strike averaged $3.28 hourly for copper miners, $3.16 for smelting and refining workers and $2.71 for wire and cable-fabricating workers.

da and hired and fired government employees for political reasons.

It swore in the first vice president, Max Delvalle, as president and Delvalle named a new cabinet and called the assembly into session to draft reforms in the electoral law.

But he did not take the customary step of new presidents — changing the command of the 4,000-man National Guard.

Guardmen stood watch in the square outside the assembly building during Sunday's voting. Crowds of demonstrators opposed to Robles milled in nearby streets. When guard reinforcements raced into the area, a burst of gunfire was heard but guard sources said later a weapon had been fired accidentally.

Throughout Sunday, the opposition appeared unable to marshal a demonstration to equal a progovernment rally held Friday.

Robles contends the assembly has no legal right to impeach him. His supporters have asked the Supreme Court to rule on a lower court injunction against the assembly's proceeding.

The opposition, headed by Arlas, claims the assembly is beyond the reach of any court.

Delvalle said he had neither "prostituted nor encouraged" the present "special circumstances." He asked Panamanians for "a common effort that will permit us to overcome the crisis we now confront."

The impeachment of Robles was the third such case in Panama's 65-year history.

Students at Howard Claim a Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Howard University students, partially victorious in demands for more black orientation on their predominantly Negro campus, return to classrooms today after a five-day takeover of the administration building.

The protest by some 1,200 chanting, singing students ended late Saturday when leaders accepted a board of trustees compromise and demonstrators left the administration building. Trustees agreed to let the student government discipline 39 students accused of disrupting May 1 Charter Day ceremonies and promised not to press charges against the protesters.

The trustees also announced student demands for more black orientation of the university would be worked out by a committee of board members, students and faculty members.

The demands included establishment of a Black Awareness Institute, formation of a student judiciary and convening of an all-black college student convention at Howard on student roles.

Student demands for the resignation of university President James M. Nabrit Jr., 67, were not mentioned in the compromise agreement.

There were reports Nabrit, who has said he would not permit Howard to become a black-oriented university, plans to retire.

Protest leaders said in interviews they want more Negro history and culture courses at Howard—and programs to develop Negroes as leaders.

"We think this university should prepare us to be leaders in the black community," said Joseph Middlebrooks, president of the engineering and architectural students association.

"Instead, what it's doing," he said, "is preparing us to fit into the white man's world—and not in leadership roles."

Administration officials said the university will be back to normal operation Wednesday following two days of reading periods. They said all buildings would be open today and some classes would resume immediately.

Both students and trustees said the agreement reached Saturday should not be interpreted as victory or defeat for either side.

Nonviolent from beginning to end, the protest started late Tuesday afternoon when about 200 students invaded the administration building to protest charges against the 39 students.

The administration closed the university the next day and ordered all other buildings closed. By Thursday, 1,200 protesters were encamped in the administration building.
